

BOXERS

May Break Out Again.

Monster Uprising Is Predicted.

Rebellion Is by No Means Crushed.

Believed That the Allies in Pekin Are in Danger.

Consul Fowler Believes This Winter Will See a Conflict.

Paris, Dec. 18.—(Spl.)—It is reported that Prince Uchomsky, the Russian plenipotentiary in China, has privately predicted to the czar that a monster Boxer uprising will take place this winter and that the allies in Pekin are in danger.

Washington, Dec. 18.—(Spl.)—The fulfillment of the prediction made by the Russian plenipotentiary in China that a monster Boxer uprising will occur this winter, would not be surprising to American army officials and correspondents who have returned from Pekin. It is the almost unanimous opinion among resident foreigners in North China that the rebellion has by no means been crushed. Merchants, missionaries and even consular officials of the foreign government in that district have expressed themselves forcibly against the proposed lessening of the number of troops in Pekin and Tien Tsin along the line of communication between those cities, alleging that such a course if pursued would simply hasten further trouble, which they regard to be inevitable sooner or later. United States Consul Fowler at Che-Foo, whose intimate acquaintance with Chinese officials in Shan Tung province was the means of his furnishing to the State department the most reliable information as to affairs in Pekin during the siege, has predicted another Boxer uprising in the spring.

FRESH AIR

Was All He Needed.

Drove to Manchester After Lewis Youtz

Who Is Alleged to be Insane.

Offered to Invent Machine to Make Dollars.

Tied to Bed by Relatives to Prevent Doing Himself Injury.

"All I want is a little fresh air."

This announcement was made to Deputy Sheriff Walter Hollinger by Lewis Youtz, who was taken into custody near Manchester today.

His relatives allege that he is insane and that he is dangerous to the community. They claim that he has showed marked signs of being unbalanced for some time. He is religiously excited.

Last night it was necessary to bind him to the bed so violent were his struggles. When the deputy arrived Youtz had quieted down and he had little trouble in persuading him to come to Akron. During the ride Youtz said: "I know that I was going wrong last night. I am glad to get into the air as I know that it will do me good."

After he reached the court house he decided that he did not care to remain longer in the custody of the officers. He made an attempt to leave the office but was caught before he could do so. Youtz believes that he is a great inventor. He offered to make a machine that would coin silver dollars provided someone would furnish the material.

ANOTHER AFFIDAVIT.

Dr. C. E. Norris has filed an affidavit alleging that Nancy Cropper of Akron is insane. An inquest will be held by Judge Anderson Wednesday.

COMPLIMENTED COUNTY OFFICIALS.

In passing sentence on Charles Fink Tuesday morning Judge D. J. Nye took occasion to say a number of pleasant things, complimentary to the officials of Summit county. He stated that the arrest of Peck, the ravisier and his subsequent removal to Cleveland were acts deserving of commendation. He believed his return to Akron and the prompt trial given him were wise moves. He praised the county officials for their work in connection with the trial of the riot cases. He thought that the punishment which has been given those connected with the riot would teach Akron and other communities that the law could not be violated with impunity. Fink came into court and changed his plea of not guilty. He was indicted for rioting. Judge Nye sentenced him to 30 days in the Canton workhouse.
